

Daily "Idealized Trades" Report

Trading Lessons from the Intraday Frame (study)

Trading Lessons from the Intraday Frame (1-min)

On T3 Trend Days, it's often BEST to turn off ALL indicators except for the moving averages and just trade the pullbacks/flags that occur as the day develops (the trend extends).

Major Companies Reporting Earnings

NONE

Major Economic Reports for Tomorrow...

NONE

Quotes from Last Night's Planning

Look back to early October 2017 and May 2017 for similar periods of straight-up bullish multi-day action and KNOW that this is NOT abnormal in the CURRENT environment.

Repeated bullish action is generally abnormal but NOT ABNORMAL in our triple-timeframe bull market extravaganza. Keep going with the bulls or stay out of their way because the BEARS are also contributing to this vertical price action via their stop-losses.

We're going to keep trading BULLISHLY as long as this ABNORMAL situation continues. Ultimately, any other strategy will lose you money as we continue in this "impossible" situation.

Yet still here we are, where only the simple bullish pullback trades would have obtained money from your trading efforts today - and again, nothing else (outside of holding a core trade) would have done so.

January 8 Power Trenders Strong Stock Scan

We're seeing the NEW top twelve relative strength leaders (via algorithm) in trending markets and the general expectation is to buy retracements or breakouts in these strongly trending names. The logic is that what is strong tends to get stronger (stocks attracting money flow tend to continue attracting additional money flow). Right now these would be the names and thus candidates above for you to do additional research and add these to your stock-scan list for possible inclusion into a swing trading portfolio on pullbacks or outright breakouts.

HOW WE USE THESE STOCKS:

I write the Power-Trending Stock Section for Swing Traders looking for candidates that complex stock scans will likely miss. The scan targets strongly trending stocks and the expectation is that price will continue trending higher, though of course additional analysis is required rather than just buying these names collectively. To participate in these stocks, we typically wait for a pullback/retracement to a rising moving average or Fibonacci/Trendline level to put on a buy/retracement where the stop is trailed under the average. These would be similar to how I describe intraday 'flag' retracements on a developing Trend Day.

FinViz "S&P 500 Performance" View

This chart and sector comparisons are useful two ways:

First, we get a broader sense of what's going on beneath the market subdivided into sectors.

Second, if you trade beyond the S&P 500 or futures/ETFs, you can pinpoint bearish/weak stocks by starting with bearish/weak sectors. The idea is outperform the market via short-selling a weak stock(s) in weak/bearish sectors on a down trend day (or vice versa).

Planning the 30-min Intraday @ES Futures Chart

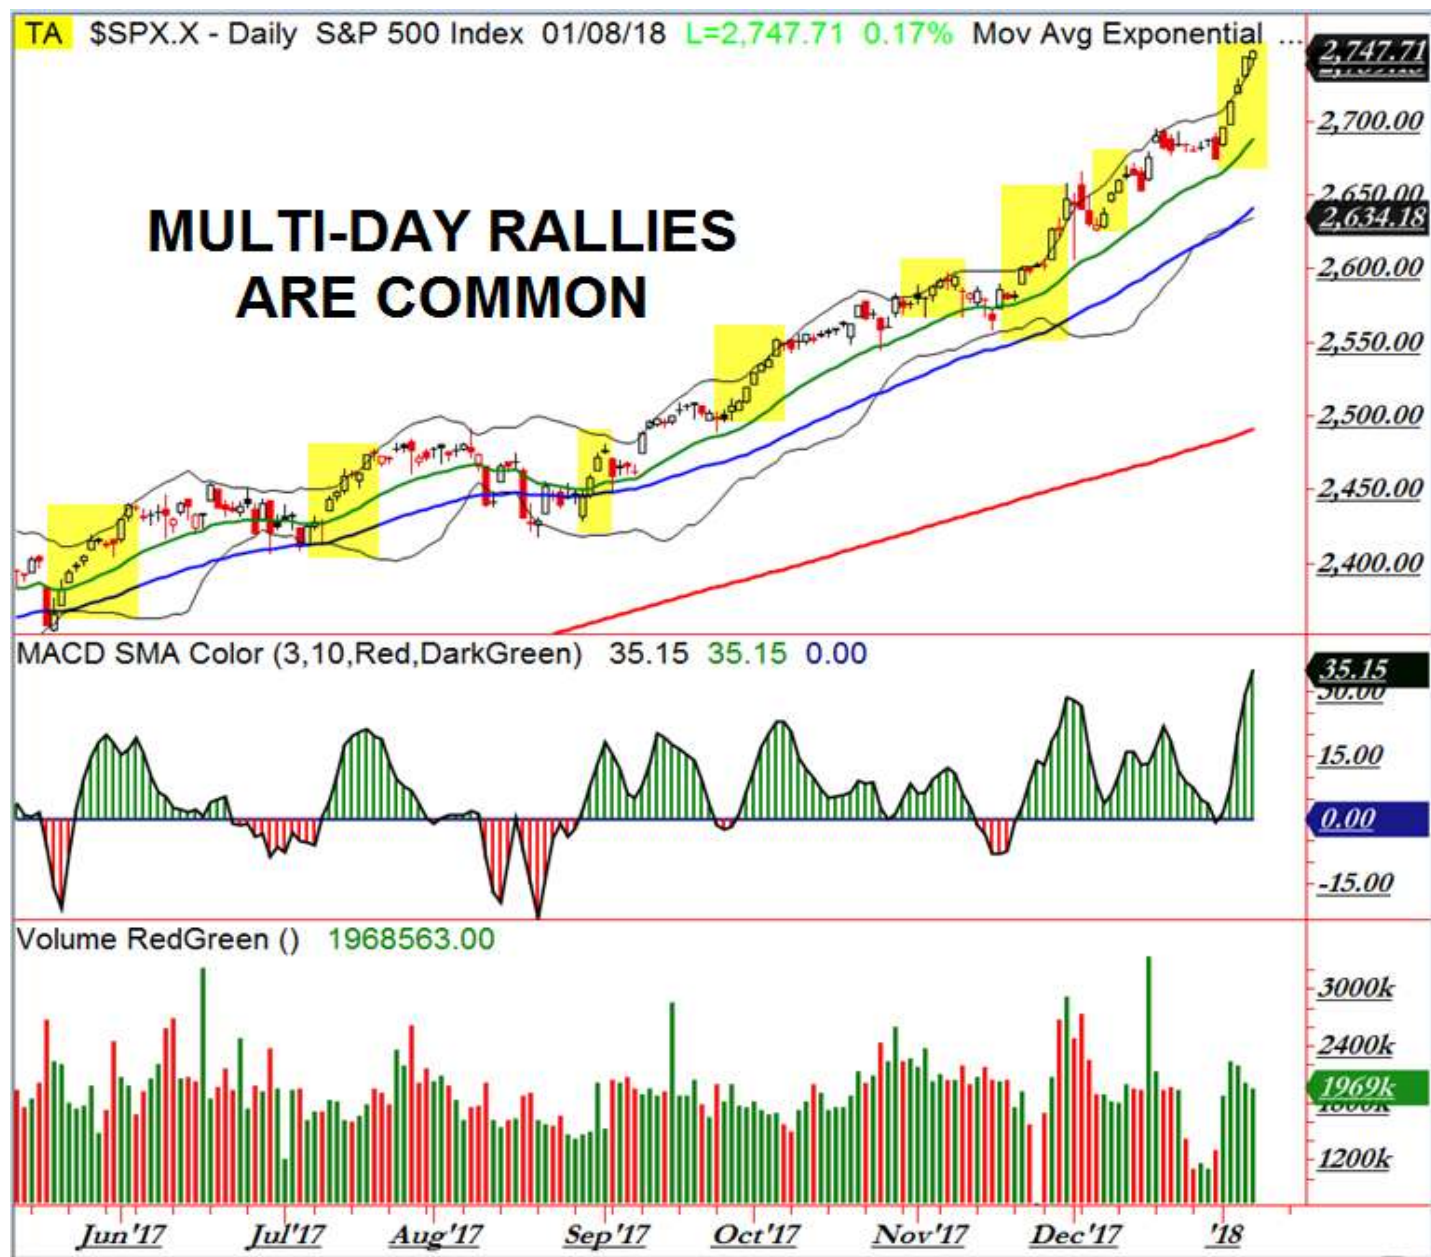

While it was logical to expect a possible range contraction or consolidation session today, that was not correct again; eventually it will be correct but not Friday and not today.

Instead, the bullish price action continued and even accelerated the action with additional bullish short-squeeze/action.

We're off the rails - we're off the track. Still.

Keep following the 5-min chart and ignore everything else until we do get that logical consolidation event.

Planning the Next Day (Daily S&P 500 Cash Index)

Price continued the uptrend, departing UP AWAY FROM our 2,700 level and trades near 2,750.

Notice the trend of accelerating momentum or rising "angular momentum" in the market which I highlighted yesterday. Now I'm showing repeated yellow highlights where similar day-over-day "impossible" upside action continued. THIS IS OUR NEW REALITY.

Look back to early October 2017 and May 2017 for similar periods of straight-up bullish multi-day action and KNOW that this is NOT abnormal in the CURRENT environment. Keep this in mind for all your short-term trades.